About This Training Session:

We will be covering things such as parts of hydrants, which valves are best for what purpose, and safety and proper set up of a CL12 Drilling machine as well as a B101 direct tap machine. After each machine is set up we will be going over what can go wrong and how to avoid that from happening. We will be doing a live tap once everyone is on board. Parts and pieces maintenance and how to choose the correct cutter for both machines will be a portion of the class as well. This is a good overview class of large and small diameter taps while getting some hands on experience tapping in a safe controlled environment.
